Overview of the Hoarding Pathway

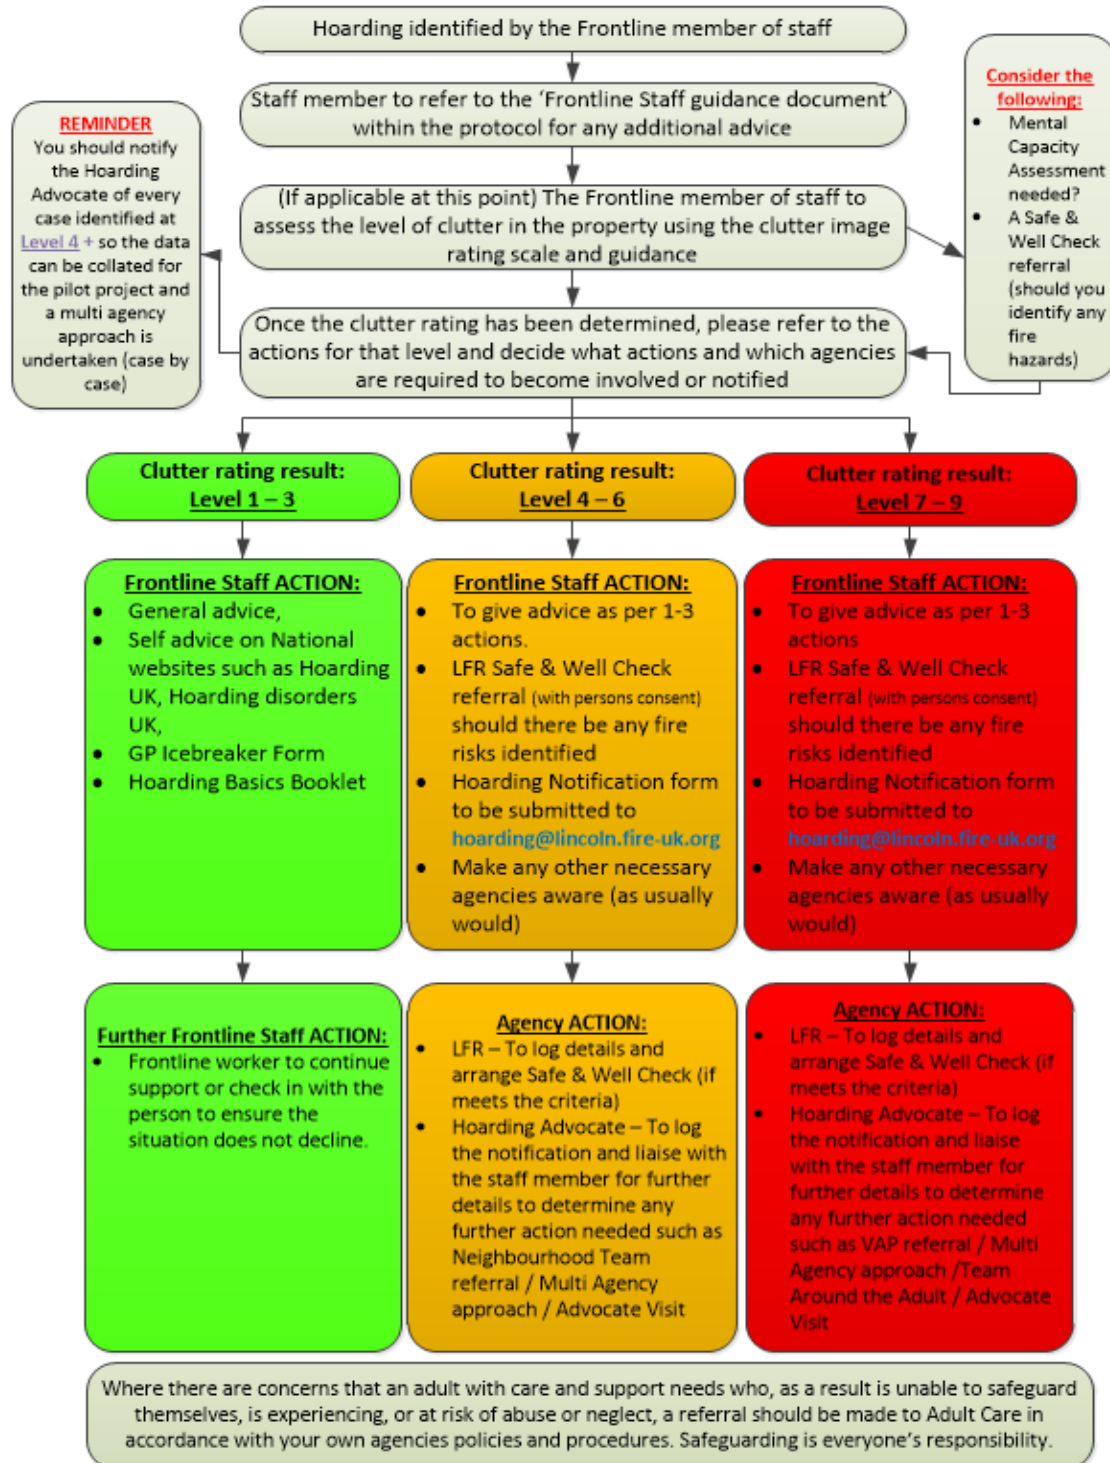

This document is designed to help any frontline member of staff who would like further guidance on hoarding identified within a person's home, who you may be working with. The triangle below gives you an idea of the support / signposting that can be sourced according to the levels of clutter within the property. There is also a notification process on the next page, designed to help you to help us in identifying people who require further support. We always encourage multi-agency working and where possible, the hoarding advocate would like to be made aware of any properties cluttered at a rating 4+. Please email hoarding@lincoln.fire-uk.org if you have any further questions or require further advice.

Where there are concerns at any level, which an adult with care and support needs who, as a result is unable to safeguard themselves, is experiencing, or at risk of abuse or neglect, a referral should be made to Adult Safeguarding in accordance with your own agencies policies and procedures. Safeguarding is everyone's responsibility

Notification Process

Hoarding Insight Characteristics

Use this guide as a baseline to describe the person's attitude towards their hoarding. The Frontline member of staff will be required to provide additional information in the notification (if it is available at this time) to enable a tailored approach that is relevant to the person in question.

GOOD OR FAIR INSIGHT

The person recognises that hoarding-related beliefs and behaviours (relating to difficulty discarding items, clutter or excessive acquisition) are problematic. The customer recognises these behaviours in themselves.

POOR INSIGHT

The person is mostly convinced that hoarding-related beliefs and behaviours (relating to difficulty discarding items, clutter or excessive acquisition) are not problematic despite evidence to the contrary. The person might recognise a storage problem but has little self-recognition or acceptance of their own hoarding behaviour.

ABSENT/IN DENIAL INSIGHT

The person is convinced that hoarding-related beliefs and behaviours (relating to difficulty discarding items, clutter or excessive acquisition) are not problematic despite evidence to the contrary. The person is completely accepting of their living environment despite it being hoarded and possibly a risk to health.

DETACHED WITH ASSIGNED BLAME

The person has been away from their property for an extended period. The person has formed a detachment from the hoarded property and is now convinced a 3rd party is to blame for the condition of the property. For example a burglary has taken place, squatters or other household members

Please use the clutter image rating over pages 6 – 10 to assess what level the person's hoarding is:

IMAGES 1-3

IMAGES 4-6

IMAGES 7-9

Then refer to the clutter assessment tool (Pages 10 -15) to guide the appropriate action you should take. Record all actions undertaken in your own agency's recording system, detailing conversations with other professionals, actions taken and action yet to be taken.

Clutter Image Ratings 1 - 3

Not usually classified as 'Hoarding' and the household environment is considered standard. No specialised assistance is needed. If the resident would like some assistance with general housework or feels they are declining towards a higher clutter scale, appropriate referrals can be made subject to age and circumstances. If you noticed that the clutter rating had jumped from a 1 to a 4 or above over time then this would slightly raise concerns on that person's behaviour. Statutory services do not have a duty or a right to become involved if a property was assessed at 1 – 3, and would need to bear in mind that tenants have an automatic right to "quiet enjoyment" of their home. Quiet enjoyment means "without interference or interruption of possession" i.e. living peacefully, without harassment. For more information, click here

Clutter Image Ratings 4 – 6

Household environment requires professional assistance to resolve the clutter and the maintenance / safety issues in the property. The Hoarding advocate within Fire & Rescue should be notified of ALL ratings measuring 4 and above so they are aware of the property and can ensure the person is referred through the correct pathway of support. Residents are often unaware of the implication of their hoarding actions and oblivious to the risk it poses, so a safe and well check will be required (with the persons consent) should you feel there is a fire safety risk in the property.

Clutter Image Ratings 7 – 9 (information for the frontline member of staff)

Household environment will require intervention with a collaborative multi agency approach with the involvement from a wide range of professionals. The Hoarding advocate within Fire & Rescue should be notified of ALL ratings measuring 4 and above so they are aware of the property and can ensure the person is referred through the correct pathway of support. Residents are often unaware of the implication of their hoarding actions and oblivious to the risk it poses, so a safe and well check will be required (with the persons consent) should you feel there is a fire safety risk in the property.

This level of hoarding MAY constitute a referral to the Vulnerable Adults Panel by the District Council within the persons area due to the significant risk to health of the householders, surrounding properties and residents. The Hoarding Advocate will liaise with the District council to determine whether the person will be referred.

Self-neglect may not prompt a section 42 enquiry. An assessment should be made on a case by case basis. A decision on whether a response is required under safeguarding will depend on the adult's ability to protect themselves by controlling their own behaviour. There may come a point when they are no longer able to do this, without external support.

Before considering a referral to safeguarding, frontline staff should try to work with the person to identify the reasons for hoarding behaviours. This is not always easy as it requires the professionals, or concerned person to engage with the said person, develop a rapport and their trust to ask about their emotions and how they feel about themselves. Sometimes this can feel traumatic for the person and may take time and patience. Whilst this process is on-going, the professional or concerned person should take necessary steps to reduce risk to the person and others (e.g. by making a referral to LFR for a safe & well check) with the person's consent where appropriate.

A vulnerable person may also be living with the person who hoards in the property. There may be a safeguarding concern about that adult if they have care and support needs, are at risk of or experiencing significant harm due to the living circumstances and as a result of their care and support needs, are unable to take steps to safeguard themselves.

Household environment will require intervention with a collaborative multi agency approach with the involvement from a wide range of professionals. This level of hoarding MAY constitute a Safeguarding concern if an adult who has care and support needs is at risk of, or experiencing abuse or neglect and as a result of those care needs is unable to take steps to safeguard themselves. If the person has capacity to remain in a situation of risk and there is no risk to others, it is unlikely that a safeguarding enquiry could offer anything more than a multi-agency approach

Example Questions & Engagement Tips

Listed below are examples of questions to ask where you are concerned about someone's safety in their own home, where you suspect a risk of self-neglect and hoarding. The information gained from these questions will inform a Hoarding Assessment and provide the information needed to alert other agencies.

Environment

- How do you move safely around your home (where the floor is uneven or covered, or there are exposed wires, damp, rot, or other hazards)
- Have you ever had an accident, slipped, tripped up or fallen, how did it happen?
- Has a fire ever started by accident?
- How do you get hot water, lighting, heating in here?
- How do you manage to keep yourself warm? Especially in winter?
- Are you worried about mice, rats or foxes, or other pests? Do you leave food out for them?
- Can you prepare food, cook and wash up in your kitchen?
- Do you use your fridge? Can I have a look in it?

Security

- Are you worried about other people getting in to your garden to try and break-in? Has this ever happened?
- Are there any broken windows in your home? Any repairs that need to be done?
- Do you have someone you trust who is a key holder?

Health and Safety

- How do you keep yourself clean? Can I see your bathroom? Are you able to use your bathroom and use the toilet ok?
- Can you show me where you sleep and let me see your upstairs rooms? Are the stairs safe to walk up? (if there are any)
- What do you do with your dirty washing?
- Because of the number of possessions you have, do you find it difficult to use some of your rooms? If so which ones?

- Do you struggle with discarding things or to what extent do you have difficulty discarding (or recycling, selling, giving away) ordinary things that other people would get rid of?

Engagement Tips

Understand the significance to them of the self-neglecting behaviours / the hoarding to the adult, talking to them about their reasons and life-experiences.

Focus on harm reduction, not symptom reduction. This is about risk management and assessment.

Work patiently over time at the pace of the adult, but know when to speak the truth (respectfully) about potential consequences.

Make the most of crises (and sometimes of their worries) to reduce harm and make positive changes.

Practice 'positive regard' for the adult. Build rapport and empathy; use gentle persistence and keep continuity. Mirror their language; see things from their point of view.

Talk about risks supportively, but also with plain-speaking, openness and honesty about the potential consequences.

Keep in view the adult's (possibly fluctuating) mental capacity to make safety and welfare decisions.

Engage with / co-ordinate other professionals, friends, neighbours and family to support, advise and give practical help.

Use legal powers as a last resort and only with sound knowledge of the law and national policy.

In all practice, be creative and flexible. e.g., are there other ways of getting cleaning done, daily medicines collected / administered and clinical treatments given to the person?

Further Advice, Self Help & Forms

- Please give the Hoarding Ice Breaker form and the Basics Hoarding booklet within your toolkit to the person you are engaging with, if you have had a discussion with them and they have agreed to visit a health professional to seek help. The booklet will help the person to understand the disorder from their perception. (If the person feels they would like this support)
- Please use the Hoarding Notification form within your toolkit to send on to Hoarding@lincoln.fire-uk.org where the hoarding advocate within Fire and Rescue will log the property and liaise with other agencies to ensure the person gets the right support (case by case)
